- Our 2nd annual North Texas Legend is Joe Tom White.
- Joe Tom has touched so many of us through his 57-year broadcast radio career, for which he is in the Texas Radio Hall of Fame.
- He has also promoted this area and so many organizations and causes--at no cost. This Museum has often been a beneficiary of his generosity.
- Help us honor Joe Tom on Oct. 18. Don't ya dare miss it!
- Catered by Texas Best

Main Exhibit - The exhibit runs through the rest of 2016

Politicians, Poll Boxes, and Public Servants: Participating in Politics

- What better time to have an exhibit like this?
- The exhibit has campaign artifacts, old voting equipment, and multimedia elements on protest songs and the Presidential "campaign" of comedian Pat Paulsen in 1968.

- There is also a great deal of information on how we can all participate in the political process and government.
- No exhibit of this type would be complete with political cartoons, and we have plenty.

“Poets, Painters, and Paper” explores the American printmaking renaissance of the 1960s-1970s by bringing together broadsides and prints from poets and artists as diverse as William Everson, LeRoi Jones, Lee Krasner, and Andy Warhol. Although Stanley Hayter relocated his famous studio, Atelier 17, from Paris to New York in 1940, it was not until the late 1950s and early 1960s when United Limited Arts Editions and Tamarind Lithography Workshop, as well small publishers like City Lights Books and Oyez Press, opened their doors that artists and poets found the collaborative and creative atmosphere needed to produce a more accessible, affordable, and democratic form of artistic expression.

The artworks presented in "Poets, Painters, and Paper" are the products of a turbulent social and political time in America—a time rife with racial and gender inequality, growing anti-war sentiment, and, hovering over it all like a mushroom cloud, the constant threat of nuclear annihilation. For avant-garde artists and poets alike, this was a time for breaking down the rigid barriers between high and low art, a time for collaborative imagination, and thus a time to break down the myth of the solitary (and hyper-masculine) artist-genius as perpetuated by images of Jackson Pollock in the popular press. It was also a time of creative cross-over, when the relationships between text and image were once again ardently explored with the fervor of earlier Modernist experimentation.

Based on the Oscar-winning DreamWorks Animation film, Shrek The Musical is a Tony Award-winning fairy tale adventure, featuring all new songs from Jeanine Tesori (Thoroughly Modern Millie; Caroline, or Change) and a sidesplitting book by David Lindsay-Abaire. Shrek brings all the beloved characters you know from the film to life on stage.

"Once upon a time, there was a little ogre named Shrek...." And thus begins the tale of an unlikely hero who finds himself on a life-changing journey alongside a wisecracking Donkey and a feisty princess who resists her rescue. Throw in a short-tempered bad guy, a cookie with an attitude and over a dozen other fairy tale misfits and you've got the kind of mess that calls for a real hero. Luckily, there's one on hand... and his name is Shrek.

Point of Contact: 322-5000

<http://www.backdoortheatre.org/rock-of-ages.html>

A rock musical set in Hollywood in the 1980s, when it was all about big chords, big dreams and big hair! Rock of Ages explores the pursuit of dreams and tells its story through hits from iconic groups and rockers of the 1980s. Channeling every totally rad '80s cliché in the book, Rock of Ages is superfluous silliness at its best. A high-energy dive into a living, breathing music video, the show – which never takes itself seriously – races quickly along, riding high on nostalgia and hairspray. During the performance, the performers frequently break the "fourth wall", directly addressing the audience and seemingly forgetting that they are actors in a musical. Rock of Ages features songs from Journey, Bon Jovi, Pat Benatar, Twisted Sister, Steve Perry, and Poison among other well-known rock bands.

Wichita Theatre

925 Indiana St.

Upstairs stage in the Theatre Lobby

Price: $37

Point of Contact: 723-9037

<http://wichitatheatre.com/show/58>

Our next Hard Luck Diner Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre comedy is called DEATH AND TAXES by Pat Cook and will offer the same opportunities for fun, laughter, mystery and audience participation as our previous two shows.

Ever wonder what goes on at a small-town city council meeting? In Hendricks, they're looking for a murderer. Mayor Kathleen Lyles boldly announces that the meeting will be more like a coroner's jury than the usual round of arguments. Not only was a man murdered, but he was an employee of the IRS. Slowly it becomes apparent the entire city council had seen the man, and each of them seems to be hiding something. Who murdered the stranger? This easy-to-stage intrigue is chock-full of small-town characters and hilarious dialogue. And, as an added bonus, it can be produced as an audience participation mystery where the audience can not only see the scene of the crime but also question the suspects.

You are allowed to bring your own wine to this show but no other alcoholic beverages will be allowed.

Carol Castro will instruct students how to make stoneware tile in a mosaic format from raw ceramic clay for a platform (wood, concrete, backer board) of their choosing using advanced methods. Students may make textured tile, create stamped and relief tiles, transform a photo into mosaic, or use modern drawing techniques to make a pattern. Students will receive tile at the end of class and will adhere it to their platform and grout it outside of class. All students who have taken Beginners Stoneware Mosaic Tile may enroll. Others should enroll only if they have experience with mosaics or creating in clay.

Students must come to first class with exact dimensions of item they plan to tile. Please note there will be additional fees owed to the instructor dependent upon the project you choose.
